

PROCEDURE FOR BEE REGISTRATION

1. COMPANY REGISTRATION

The first step toward BEE registration is registering your company with the Bureau of Energy Efficiency. You need to submit details such as company name, address, and relevant legal documents like incorporation certificates.

2. PRODUCT TESTING

Once your company is registered, the next step is testing your product to ensure it complies with BEE's energy efficiency standards. The product must be tested at a BEE-approved laboratory.

3. MODEL REGISTRATION

After obtaining the test report, the final step is model registration. Here, manufacturers must submit their product details, test reports, and relevant documentation through the BEE portal. The BEE assesses the submitted data and approves the product for BEE certification. Upon approval, the product is assigned a star rating, which is critical for marketing energy-efficient appliances.